

MY GLOBAL FIT

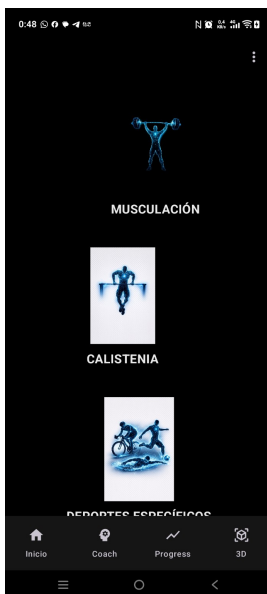

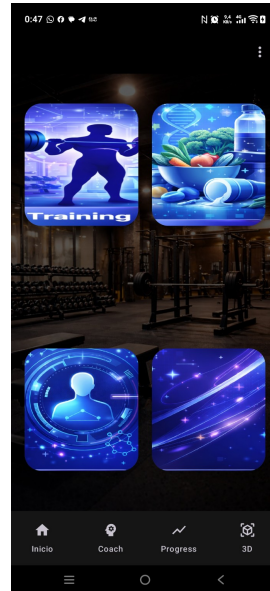

Adaptive Performance Platform

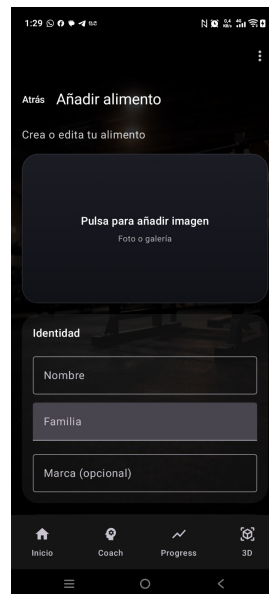

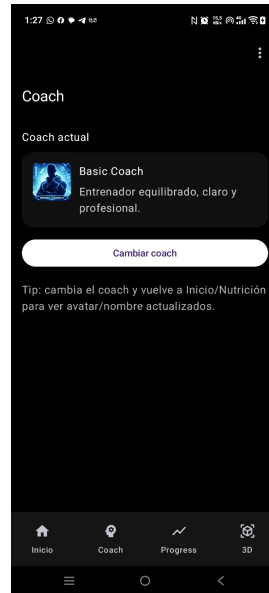

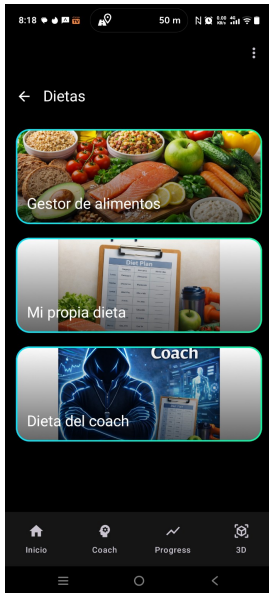

Category: Fitness & Nutrition Mobile Application

Status: Functional Prototype – V1 Development & Internal Testing

Overview

My Global Fit is a comprehensive fitness and nutrition mobile application currently in active development. The project focuses on delivering an integrated platform that combines health, training and nutrition into a single ecosystem. The current version is functional and is undergoing development and internal testing as part of the first V1 release.

Development Note

The screenshots shown correspond to the current internal development build. The application is under active development and testing as part of the first V1 release. Public releases will be available in English with multilingual support.